by Peter Bander

The Prophecies of St. Malachy and St. Columbkille are a collection of predictions attributed to Saint Malachy, Archbishop of Armagh, and Saint Columba, the Primate of Ireland. The prophecies were compiled circa 1140 during Malachy’s visit to Rome. They list 112 future Popes, offering clues to their identities and the events that will surround their papacies. The book examines the accuracy of these prophecies and their relevance to modern times.

The Prophecies of St. Malachy and St. Columbkille by Peter Bander is an updated edition that presents the prophecies and their historical context in a more accessible format. The book includes an introduction, commentary, and an analysis of the prophecies, providing insights into their implications for the past, present, and future.
